

Water surrounds Williamstown, with Hobsons Bay to the east, and Port Phillip Bay to the south, which makes it a very appropriate location for our church.

There is a strong connection between water and life, and for Christians who are baptised with water, as an element of faith.

Water played a crucial part in the formation of places of faith in this district as early as 1835, when immigrants predominantly from England came to Williamstown by boat and settled on what had been First Peoples land. The newly arrived continued their worship of God, and it was in 1876 when this church was built. Since then, people of faith in the congregation have served in a variety of ways which has left us today with us a rich legacy, that as current stewards, we aim to continue.

Water is life giving and life sustaining as is the love and the grace of God for each one of us.
